This event will highlight resources and benefits colleges and universities bring to your real estate activities, the landscape for current and near term employer needs in biotech, cybersecurity and engineering and how educational institutions are addressing those needs. Our distinguished panel of speakers will provide examples of how universities and colleges use their real estate in partnering with companies to evaluate their locational needs.

Our panel includes:

An opportunity to tour the Bioscience Education Lab as well as Cyber Security Lab is available after our panel discussion.

Breakfast will be served during the panel discussion.
